Press Release

Mansfield Police Chief Gary Hobbs is proud to announce the launch of a new Crime Prevention and Education Program being offered by the Mansfield Police Department. The program, which has been in the development stage for the past year, will target three specific groups;

First Grade Children - Officers will provide class-room instruction through the use of a "Let's Play it Safe" educational coloring book that covers multiple topics including 911, gun safety, seat belt safety, gateway drugs and the difference between drugs and medicine.

Middle School/High School Students - Officers will provide guidance and instruction on making good choices on the subjects of conflict resolution, bullying, sexting, dating violence, stalking, gangs, and teen suicide.

Adult/Senior Citizen Groups - Officers will conduct seminars with Church groups, civic organizations, and senior citizens on multiple topics including; Identity theft, frauds & scams, internet safety and home protection.

Anyone interested in scheduling a class can call Chief Hobbs at the Mansfield Police Department: 318-872-0520 or email at: mansfieldpd@nwcable.net
