2021 Quarterly Local Program Activity Report

Submit with each quarter's Reinvestment Report

PROGRAM NAME:

FARMERSVILLE, TEXAS

THIS REPORT COVERS:

- ☐ QUARTER 1 (covering January-March, due April 10th)
- ☐ QUARTER 2 (covering April-June, due July 10th)
- ☒ QUARTER 3 (covering July-September, due October 10th)

(Your QUARTER 4 Activity will be part of the annual report/ Community Accreditation Standards that will be due in December.)

APPROACH: This Activity Report aligns with the Performance Standards upon which Main Street communities nationwide will assess themselves at the end of each year. That assessment is a central component of determining National Accreditation. Using this activity template, local programs should briefly summarize activity as they relate to the six standards, which outline general guidelines for performance:

1. Broad-based Community Commitment
2. Leadership & Organizational Capacity
3. Diverse and Sustainable Funding
4. Strategy-Driven Programming (Community Transformation Strategies)
5. Preservation-Based Economic Development
6. Demonstrated Impact & Result

REMINDERS:

- 1) Completion of these quarterly activity reports, and the annual report, should be a joint effort of both staff and board.
- 2) Please do not simply list activities or meetings; instead, your activities and reporting should reflect the six Accreditation Standards AND demonstrate how your activities propel your community forwards within the framework of your adopted Transformation Strategies.
- 3) Regardless of your program structure (i.e., traditional committees, task forces etc.) evidence that your program adheres to the Main Street Four Point Approach™ should be evident, as the Four Point Approach remains the foundation of our work and the success of the Main Street movement.

TRANSFORMATION STRATEGIES:

The Main Street Approach is centered around Transformation Strategies. A Transformation Strategy articulates a focused, deliberate path to revitalizing or strengthening a downtown's economy. Communities typically adopt 1 to 3 (maximum) transformation strategies. In general, each strategy should be relevant for at least 3 years.

We have adopted and articulated our Main Street Transformation Strategy or strategies ☒ Yes ☐ No

Please list your strategy(ies) – up to 3:

The Farmersville Main Street Program continues to focus on revitalization goals. Although we find ourselves without a Main Street Program Manager due to Covid-19 issues, the Main Street Program Advisory Board, City Leadership, and community partners came together to address communication issues and mission goals. We are also continuing our goals to create a more vibrant downtown that creates opportunities for community partners and business owners. We review our Transformation Strategies on a regular basis and continue to focus on effective communication, strengthening our volunteer base and training. We are also committed to creating and sustaining a vibrant downtown gathering place and a family friendly venue that will truly make Farmersville a place to Shop, Dine and Discover.

Please provide a brief description of activity below. Add summaries, images, sample media coverage etc. on an extra page(s) to further describe activities if needed (not required).

ECONOMIC VITALITY

Focuses on capital, incentives, and other economic and financial tools to assist new and existing businesses, catalyze property development, and create a supportive environment for entrepreneurs and innovators that drive local economies	The Historic Sugar Hill Building which currently houses the "Yarn and You" business and the Fancy Fiber business is currently working on upgrades that include a Chair Lift. The upgrade will also feature a covered outdoor area. The project cost thus far is $25,000. The Maguire Professional Building owner upgraded the downstairs area and outside façade. The upgrades included new paint, windows and a new Air Condition and Heating System. The project cost $22,000. See Slide #2

DESIGN

Please provide images/descriptions on separate pages for any physical improvements completed during the quarter (before/after). The data should also appear in your reinvestment reports.	The Main Street Program received a grant of $10,000 from 4B for renovation of the downtown gazebo. The contractor replaced support posts, spindles and added a fresh coat of paint. The renovation was completed this quarter and is ready for another twenty years of activity as a beacon to the Main Street District. The downtown gazebo also serves as the focal point on the square and functions as a master of ceremony stage during various events as well as the location for the City Christmas Tree to include various photo opportunities. Additionally, the gazebo brick floor displays names of famous people from the Farmersville area. A historical highlight was created when Governor Rick Perry spoke from the gazebo during the 2013 Texas Legislative Medal of Honor awards ceremony for Audie Leon Murphy. Accepting the award was Murphy's sole surviving sister Nadine Murphy-Lockey.
Supports a community's transformation by enhancing the physical and visual assets that set the commercial district apart.	See Slide #3 & 4

PROMOTION

Positions the downtown or commercial district as the center of the community and hub of economic activity, while creating a positive image that showcases a community's unique characteristics.	According to the Farmerville Times, the posts outside Yarn and You in downtown Farmersville were "Yarn Bombed" by members of the fiber arts community, some local and some who visited just to shop the third annual North Texas Yarn Crawl. The crawl started September 10th and continued through September 19th. The yarn crawlers were advised to visit participating shops during the event, pick up a free Travel Guide at the first shop, get the passport in the Travel Guide stamped at each location, purchase a canvas shopping bag, and collect buttons at each shop. After shopping and enjoying special events at each shop, the yarn crawlers were directed to turn in passports at the last shop or mail it to be eligible for prizes. Fancy Fibers, Fiber Circle and Yarn and You all participated in the yarn crawl event which brought an estimated 1,500 shoppers to the Main Street District! Each business provides a unique approach to the world of yarn.
	See Slide #5 thru 7

ORGANIZATION

Creates a strong foundation for a sustainable revitalization effort, including cultivating partnerships, community involvement, and resources for the district.	Our organizational structure/leadership remains strong and focused. The President and Vice-President switched seats and pledge to continue to work together to support the goals of the Main Street Program. The current secretary was elected to serve another term and the Board decided to not fill the Treasurer's position at this time because the financial information was available through other sources. Our last Main Street Manager had to step down in July due to Covid-19 and other pre-existing issues. During the interim, the Main Street Board, Community Development Board (4B), City Manager and City Council decided to evaluate the Main Street Program Manager's position to include funding, supervision, duties, and responsibilities. The current Main Street Board President asked the City Council to consider hiring an interim Main Street Manager until a new person could be brought on board. The request was tabled due pending budget review. As in the past, our talented board members will continue to step up to the plate and continue our mission and provide quarterly/annual reports to the state office as required. See Slide #8

North Texas Yarn Crawl--2021

North Texas Yarn Crawl--2021

Stacy Arveda - Yarn and You

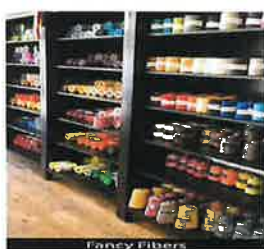

Crawlin' around North Texas Annual shopping event beckons fiber artists

By Sonia Duggan

Not even record high temperatures and the never-ending threat of COVID-19 will stop members of the fiber arts community from attending an annual favorite junket to check out local yarn shops this month.

The third annual North Texas Yarn Crawl offers a unique opportunity to explore other communities — and support yarn shops — throughout the Metroplex for 10 days while spending time with friends or meeting new ones.

Twelve yarn shops participated in the event in 2020, said organizer Ginger Hayes, owner of The Knittery in McKinney. Despite getting a late start in planning this year's event, Hayes said they've had a great response and have the most shops ever committed to participate this month.

For the first seven years of its history the event was known as the DFW Yarn

Crawl and wasn't owned by yarn shopkeepers. Then, after DFW organizers decided to step back from hosting the event, Hayes traveled to Austin bringing back ideas from the Hill Country and asked if yarn store owners wanted to host the event themselves.

In 2019 the event became the North Texas Yarn Crawl, and while the name may have changed, the spirit and the locale of the experience has not.

The 15 participating shops, some urban, some not, are all unique and carry a range of inventory. They are located in a 250-mile radius all over North Texas — as far north as Whitesboro, as far south as Waxahachie, as far east as Farmersville and as far west as Fort Worth.

If the thought of hand-dyed wool and alpaca makes you sweat rather than swoon, maybe this isn't your jam, but it certainly is for the hundreds of crafters already planning for the big event.

Participants will have the opportunity to "crawl" from Sept. 10 — 19 this year. If you're new to the experience, a yarn crawl is a multi-day event where those in the fiber arts community travel from yarn shop to yarn shop, sampling wares, winning prizes and enjoying a shopping road trip with friends.

"It's 15 shops over 10 days," says Hayes, "you can go during the week and still get a lot of the trunk shows and special things going on during the crawl without dealing with crowds."

Registration is simple and can be completed online at northtexasyarncrawl.com or miamartliving.com

at participating stores in advance. All shops give out a pin-back button to attach to the coveted canvas logo bag — in a turquoise color this year — that often sells out prior to the crawl.

"I expect we will sell out of 250 bags," Hayes said. "It's reasonable to say we could have 1,000 people."

Shop owners order the number of bags they want in advance. Yarn and You owner Stacy Acevedo said she bought the most yarn crawl bags ever this year and "started preselling on the 10th."

Another item — the travel guide — is key to the crawl. Attendees can pick up the free booklets at the first shop on the route.

Mary Berry, owner of Fancy Fibers in downtown Farmersville, a shop dedicated to the art of weaving, spinning, dyeing and hooking, said she has been busy selling the advertising that pays for the printing of the travel guide. In the guide, each shop has their own page, often with photos and brands/types of merchandise sold, so attendees can plan ahead to see what they have, says Berry.

Prizes and giveaways sweeten the pot for participants. There is a "passport" on one page in the guide that is stamped at each location, and at the end of the crawl, there will be 15 names drawn from the list of people that turn in the passport and prizes will be given out — one at each shop says Hayes. In addition, all shops have door prizes, which are given out on each day of the crawl.

"We usually get things from our sponsors," Berry said. "It's a really big event."

For those who prefer to travel in a group, the DFW Handknitters Guild has a 40-passenger bus that will meet in Dallas at the First Little Retreat Center on Beltline Road. The first weekend, the bus will take participants on the north route, then the following Saturday, Sept. 18, the bus will take the south route.

The bus runs a fairly tight schedule, says Berry, but attendees have the opportunity to "see what's new, what's on sale, what trunk shows there are, and then go on to their next destination."

Unlike all the other crawl destinations, Farmersville is unique because three shops, Fancy Fibers, Yarn and You and Fiber Circle, on the square are participating once again this year. In the Travel Guide on each merchant's ad page, each one offers suggestions for eating and shopping while in town. As a result, downtown businesses will also benefit from the daily influx of visitors.

The last two years of the crawl have been steady said Acevedo of her experience. In 2020, "everybody wanted to get out so bad, we didn't get a single slow day for the entire week," she said. "I think this year is going to be even bigger."

Shop owners work long hours and are required to be open every day during the crawl. In addition, special events are planned to showcase local independent artists, those without brick and mortar shops that normally would not be stocked in store, at trunk shows during the crawl.

"It's (a lot of) work to keep a local yarn shop open," Berry said. "You've got to have something unique to your shop that brings people in."

The Fancy Fibers owner said she plans to take the whole front portion of her store and convert it into a large trunk show area to display the works of Sharpin Designs, a crocheter and artist who hand dyes yarn, as well as a big, 6 rack display of the last remaining Brooks Farm Yarn, a former DFW Fiber Fest vendor.

"I want to honor her (Brooks) and have the last of her hand dyed yarn here," Berry said.

Since shopping often makes people hungry and thirsty, Berry said she plans to set up a coffee bar and sell pies from Preville, a Farmersville favorite.

Next door at Acevedo's shop, the Yarn and You owner is hosting "Knitflix and Chill" the first Friday night of the crawl and plans to set up a big screen projector in the second-floor apartment of her building. As for her trunk shows, Acevedo said she is highlighting visiting fiber artists, anywhere from four to six each weekend, a pottery vendor and a book signing by Lisa Hennessy, author of "Knit, Pray, Share."

Whether you're a knitter, crocheter, rug hooker, weaver, or any other type of fiber artist, the North Texas Yarn Crawl offers a unique opportunity to discover the joy of the hunt and the reason behind its saying, "It's not fall without the crawl."

"You're going to find something different in every shop," Berry said. "We all consider ourselves one big community."
